Subject: Application for spousal Open Work Permit Visa- Sujeta Dahal

Respected Visa Officer,

I am Sujeta Dahal, a permanent resident of Panchakanyachowk, 10 Budhanilkanta, Kathmandu, Nepal. I was born on 22 February, 1999. My husband, [REDACTED], has been accepted as a full-time student at Cambrian College to pursue a post-graduate program in Project Management beginning September 5, 2023. My primary reason for traveling is to accompany my husband and we would not want to be separated from each other, even for a short period of time.

Regarding our relationship, we initially met in 2018 during my husband's college program. We were introduced via a close friend, and it didn't take us long to understand that we had a really special bond. As we spent more time together, our bond grew stronger, and we found ourselves deeply in love. Our families also became involved, with my parents warmly welcoming my husband into our lives. We got married on November 22, 2021, surrounded by loved ones. We have a strong dedication to one another and have continually helped one another through every part of our life. We find it intolerable to even consider being apart, even for a short while. We strive to create a life that is full of love, support from each other, and shared adventures because we have common goals and desires. As we begin this new chapter in Canada, the strength of our partnership will definitely provide stability and happiness.

After completion of my Higher Secondary Education (Science) from Reliance International Academy, Chabahil Kathmandu, I was in dilemma whether to continue my studies abroad or begin my career in teaching as I always wanted to be a professional teacher. I decided to take a chance and applied for my study visa in Australia but got rejected. I respect the visa decision and I understand that the Australian immigration process is thorough and decisions are made based on various factors. I used the rejection's disappointment as an opportunity to think about my aims and aspirations for the future. During this period of reflection, I came to understand my love of teaching and made the decision to pursue a career in education. The Australian rejection was a turning point in my life. It forced me to re-evaluate my goals and consider different avenues that complemented my hobbies and strong points. I understood that becoming a teacher would enable me to pursue a rewarding career and have a beneficial influence on the lives of young students.

I decided to join a primary school Divine Buds Educational Academy located at Boudha-6 Kathmandu, Nepal. I started my teaching career as a primary teacher intern in 2018. Later I joined the organization as full-time assistant teacher. Currently, as a senior primary teacher, I provide leadership, mentorship to junior teachers, design curriculum, create inclusive classrooms, assess student progress, and engage in continuous professional development. I am very satisfied with my profession and job as everyone are happy. During these years of teaching, I have been constantly learning and gaining experience. I am always interested in encouraging my students and colleagues to explore new things. I can make sure that I will get involved as a volunteer in the available organization and use these experiences to support the community and continue my learning journey as well.

As his wife, it is important for me to be with him during this new chapter in our lives, as we support each other emotionally and physically in upcoming new environment and experiences during our stay in Canada. I will be the love and support my husband requires in a foreign land. Furthermore, I will actively contribute to his studies by assisting in research projects, helping him organize study materials, and providing valuable insights and perspectives during his coursework. In addition, I intend to take part in project management networking gatherings and industry conferences so that I can interact with experts in the field while accompanying my husband. I want to improve his learning process and aid in his academic success by fully committing to his educational endeavors. Furthermore, we are unable to endure being apart for a protracted period of time. While we are thrilled about the possibilities presented by our shared existence, we also understand the value of one day going back to our native countries. Before returning home to use what we've learned and experienced to benefit our community and country, our goal is to complete our studies in Canada and gain worthwhile work experience there. I assure the respected visa counsellor that my stay in Canada is entirely temporary, lasting only until my husband graduation. After the completion of the study, we will return to Nepal and I will continue my teaching journey. We will also be able to create a life together that is full of new opportunities and adventures while living together in Canada, where we will be able to experience the unique culture and way of life that this nation has to offer. We will have access to work, education, and other opportunities for our personal and professional growth because we will be in Canada together. During our stay, we hope to contribute positively to Canadian society and the economy, and we think that being together will enable us to do so.

We have been planning for my husband's studies since 2021. Please be assured that we have adequate funds to cover our travel and our living expenses during our stay in Canada. We have paid CAD 17007.32 as his full year tuition fees and the total annual income of CAD 47,023.10 along with the property of CAD 521,567.39. Moreover, our parents also have bank balance of CAD 91,980.40 in their bank account. My husband had completed his Bachelor of science in Environmental Management in 2022 from School of Environmental Science and Management, Pokhara University with outstanding grade and was Dean Listed 2022 and wanted to continue his educational journey in Canada as it is a country with best practical based education system. He always explains me that how he wants to introduce sustainability by encouraging youths, leading several projects working with Nepalese government.

I am Nepalese and married to a Nepalese citizen and have a residence permit which enables me to stay, work and own a property in Nepal. Also, we have no immediate relatives in Canada and all our loved ones are in Nepal which I can assure you that we will come back to our mother nation after the completion of my husband's studies. In addition to, my parents are the reason I will always return to Nepal. It is a blessing for everyone to spend time with their family. As the beloved daughter, my parents' love and care for me is unconditional. Another reason, I wish to work with a school who looks after differently abled children in Nepal that is looking for a long-term employee after my husband finishes his studies. I love teaching and enjoy working with students because I care about their future and I want to have positive impact on their learning and life. I will be staying in Nepal with my husband as I explained that he is eager to serve Nepalese government with various projects leading to sustainability and continue my teaching journey. During my career in teaching, I have learnt many skills regarding coordinating, accounting and advertising as well. Also, my husband is extremely happy and he is also supportive with my decision. I assure the respected visa counselor that our family has enough money to cover our living expenses and other expenses until my husband graduation.

My intention to support my husband in his ambition and return to Nepal because our future and career aspirations can be fulfilled only by being here. I hereby acknowledge and declare that all the information given by me here is true, accurate and complete and I am ready to provide any further supporting documents upon request. I shall utilize my visit only for the purpose of which the Visa has been applied for. My husband and I are fully aware of the Canadian immigration regulations for the temporary visa and we will for sure abide and adhere respectfully. I assure you that the above information is genuine to the best of my knowledge, and I am ready to provide any further supporting documents upon request. I sincerely hope that you will give me this opportunity to be there for my husband, whom I love a lot.

In conclusion, we are sincerely grateful for the opportunity to submit our application for a spousal open work permit in Canada. We genuinely appreciate the time and consideration you have dedicated to reviewing our case. We firmly believe that being together in Canada will not only provide us with emotional support but also allow us to make positive contributions to Canadian society and the economy. Our intentions are straightforward: to complete my husband's studies, acquire valuable work experience, and subsequently return to Nepal and apply our skills and knowledge for the betterment of our community and country. We assure you that our stay in Canada will be entirely temporary, and we will fully comply with all Canadian immigration regulations. Your favourable consideration of our request would mean the world to us and enable us to embark on this exciting journey together.

Thank you once again for your attention, and we eagerly await a positive response.

Yours sincerely,
